The purpose of this minor is to provide an in-depth study of criminal justice and offer preparation for possible careers within the criminal justice field. A minor posted on the final transcript acknowledges the student's interest and academic success in courses with relevance to the field of criminal justice.

This minor is supplemental to a major and is available only to matriculated students within the University of Connecticut. A maximum of three credits in the minor can count towards a major, and 12 to 15 credits can constitute the related area courses.

A minimum of a C must be earned in each of the courses to earn the minor.

Course Requirements

A total of 18 credits from the following:

I. Three required courses (9 credits)

POLS 255 Politics of Crime & Justice

SOCI 216 Criminology

PSYC 245 Abnormal Psychology

II. One course (3 credits)

HDFS 288 Supervised Field Work
in a criminal justice setting

INTD 210 Urban Studies Internship

POLS 297 Supervised Field Work
in a criminal justice setting

PSYC 294 Field Experience
in a criminal justice setting

SOCI 296 Field Experience
in a criminal justice setting

SOCI 340 Seminar in Criminal Justice (seniors with 2.6 + GPA required)

Our expectation is that the internships will be off campus. All internships with an on-campus element must be approved in advance by a criminal justice minor advisor or the IISP director.

III. Two courses (6 credits)

HDFS 201, 264, 266, 276, 284

PHIL 226

POLS 251, 252, 260, 274, 299 (on a criminal justice topic)

PSYC 202Q, 240, 243, 256

SOCI 217, 218, 219, 243, 244, 285, 299 (on a criminal justice topic), 340 (seniors with at least 2.6 TGPA)

WS 263

Advisors recommend additional preparation in writing, computer, and foreign language skills (especially Spanish) for students interested in careers in criminal justice.

Frank Goetz, Political Science; Eleanor Coldwell, Psychology; Brad Wright, Sociology; Steve Wisensale, Human Development and Family Studies; and Lola Elliott-Hugh, Urban and Community Studies; are the advisors to students within their departments earning the minor. The signed minor plan of study and a copy of the signed major plan of study must be filed with Margaret Lamb, Room 323 CUE Building, by the fourth week of the last semester of classes. Margaret Lamb signs and forwards the minor plan of study to the Degree Auditor.
