Advice From Recent IMJR Graduates

- “Take a broad array of classes within your field of discipline. Definitely get an internship somewhere to gain experience. Field experience in laboratory science is a must! Plum Island does have summer internships! You may contact me at Ian.C.Olesen@APHIS.USDA.gov.”
 -Ian Olsen, Biomedical Genetic Sciences
- “Take whichever classes you want that could possible fit into the major. The more you learn the better!”
 -Lauren Belliveau, Public Relations
- “Be creative; the more you integrate the better educated you become. I have also found that experience is invaluable, so make use of internships.”
 -Krista Ross, Law Enforcement Studies
- “Any student interested in getting into the creative side of advertising should put a portfolio together in school and never stop trying to make it better. Your book is EVERYTHING!”
 -George Feinn, Advertising Copywriting
- “Stay optimistic and keep applying for jobs. They are out there. Having two majors also looks good.”
 -Jackie John, Crime, Law and Justice
- “Get an internship!”
 -Kate Deer, Child Life Therapy
- I would recommend they take full advantage of being able to engage in their program and make connections with professors for recommendation letters.
 -Kristin Beck, Peace Studies
